

Converting energy from one form to another is known as energy