

Alpha particles stop after travelling a short distance through air.