

During alpha decay when an atom loses two protons and two neutrons from its nucleus, the atomic number changes by