

Nuclear power stations generate electricity using the energy given out when _____ or _____ fuels break up through nuclear fission.