

In a hydroelectric power station, moving water is used to drive the turbines which in turn drive the