

Earth is the only body in the Solar system known to be capable of supporting life.