

The hotter an object the more energy
its particles have.