

The heat produced by nuclear fission in a nuclear power station is used to heat water to make