

If there is a resultant force on an object, it means that the object will