

Background radiation is the nuclear radiation that is present all around us. It comes mainly from natural sources.