

An insulator does not conduct thermal energy because there are no moving