

If an object is moving at constant velocity, and the forces acting on it amount to 0, will it stop moving?