When an atom gains an electron, a negative ion is formed because there are more